

The World

The shortest commercial flight in the world is in Scotland, the airports are 2 miles apart and the flight takes 90 seconds. According to The Points Guy it's a much better travel alternative than the 20 minutes choppy boat trip from one to the other island.

Vacationing

A study discovered that going on vacation doesn't necessarily make you happier. The mere anticipation of the time off results in higher levels of happiness. A perfectly good reason to start planning your next vacation right now!

Air Travel

Did you know that the temperature outside your plane is -59°F ! This is much colder than the average winter temperature of -58°F at the coldest inhabited place on earth, Oymyakon, Russia. Today, however, they are having a warmer winter day as the average temperature at the moment is -45°F !
